

THESIS WRITING GUIDELINES

Dr. Arif Mahmud

Associate Professor & Associate Head

Department of CSE, Daffodil International University

ETHICS

What ETHICS means?

- Ethics are set of rules and moral principles that govern a person's behaviour or the conducting of an activity.
- Research ethics provides guidelines for the responsible conduct of research.
- It educates and monitors researchers conducting research to ensure a high ethical standard.
- Research ethics is closely related to the ethical principles of social responsibility.

IMPORTANCE OF ETHICS

Importance of Ethics in Research

- To promote aim of research i.e. Expansion of Knowledge.
- To support the value require for the collaborative work.
- To protect data, anonymity of the subjects, and confidentiality, and the ability to build trust-based relationship with the respondents and retain it.
- To protect research participants' rights and welfare, and reduce the risk of physical and psychological discomfort, damage, and/or threats appearing because of research procedures.
- To protect the rights of the researchers to carry out a lawful research and reputation of the university implementing or supporting research.
- To get the funds and publish your work in a reputed journal.

MIND MAPPING

RESEARCH ETHICS

- Honesty: Data, Result, Methodology, Reporting, No fabrication, No Misinterpretation.
- Integrity: Keeping Promises, Consistency of thought and flow, Sincerity.
- Carefulness: Critically and Carefully Analyze the works, Avoid negligence, Avoid errors.
- Objectivity: Avoid Biasness, in design, about data, peer review, grant approval, grant submission, testimony
- Respect Intellectual Property: Giving Credit, Not using unpublished data without proper approval, Honor Patents, Copyrights, Literature Findings, Never Plagiarize

RESEARCH ETHICS

- Communicate: Publish for advancement of research, No duplication
- Confidentiality: Protect trade secrets, Patent Records, Protect confidential communications
- Openness: Share data, tools, codes, resources. Open to new advancements and constructive criticism
- Non-Discriminative: Avoid Discrimination based on race, religion, ethnicity, sex, orientation, appearance or any other factor not related to scientific competence & Integrity.
- Social Responsibility: To Promote social harmony rather harm to the society. Using research, education, findings on that manner

FURTHER READING

- Resnik, D. B. (2021). The ethics of research with human subjects: Protecting people, advancing science, promoting trust. Springer.
- Comstock, G. (2013). Research ethics: A philosophical guide to the responsible conduct of research. Cambridge University Press.
- Shamoo, A. E., & Resnik, D. B. (2015). Responsible conduct of research (3rd ed.). Oxford University Press.
https://www.researchgate.net/profile/David-Resnik-2/publication/233745581_Responsible_Conduct_of_Research/links/5e80987692851caef4a96c37/Responsible-Conduct-of-Research.pdf

THE END

Thank You

